The environmental impact of concrete, its manufacture and applications, are complex. Some effects are harmful; others welcome. Many depend on circumstances. A major component of concrete is cement, which has its own environmental and social impacts and contributes largely to those of concrete.. The cement industry is one of the primary producers of carbon dioxide, a potent greenhouse gas.

Precast concrete offers durable, flexible solutions for floors, walls and even roofs in every type of domestic construction from individual cottages to multi-storey apartments. Concrete's high initial embodied energy can be offset by its extended life cycle (up to 100 years) and high potential for reuse and relocation.
